Overview

Background

The Royal Society Entrepreneur in Residence scheme was established in 2017 to increase the knowledge and awareness in UK Universities of cutting-edge industrial science, research and innovation. Award holders support both university research and teaching to enable the successful translation of academic science into industry; grow an entrepreneurial culture within universities; and address the skills needs of industry by developing curricula that produce industry-ready graduates.

Aims of the Scheme

The scheme provides opportunities for enthusiastic, highly experienced industrial scientists and entrepreneurs to spend one day a week at a university (host organisation) developing a bespoke project that will:

- a) expose university staff and students to state-of-the-art industrial research and development, and the scientific challenges faced by industry;
- b) provide support and expert advice aimed at promoting innovation and the translation of research by Universities;
- c) grow confidence in and understanding of business and entrepreneurship among staff and students;
- d) provide career recognition to the award holders and support their professional development.

Activities that an EiR might undertake could include (but are not limited to):

- a) developing or delivering courses for undergraduate and postgraduate students that reflect cutting edge industrial science, the application of science in industry and entrepreneurship;
- b) providing careers advice and guidance for students and post-doctoral researchers interested in working in industry;
- c) mentoring and advising students and academics who are setting up a company or who wish to develop collaborations with industry;
- d) using their industry knowledge to identify and evaluate the commercial potential of university research, eg helping with due diligence;
- e) advising and signposting staff and students on where to access funding, investment and further expertise;
- f) increasing awareness and visibility of the university's research within industry.

Subjects Covered

Host departments must be within the Royal Society's remit of natural sciences, which includes but is not limited to biological research, chemistry, engineering, mathematics and physics. For a full list, please see our guidance page.

Submissions from clinically qualified scientists may be considered. The Society does not support clinical or interventional research on humans at the individual or group level, social sciences or humanities, unless otherwise stated.

If there is any doubt about the eligibility of a project, contact the Industry team via industry@royalsociety.org.

Value of Funding and Support Provided

Approximate number of Awards offered: 10

Up to a maximum of £20,000 per year. (including VAT where applicable).

Duration and Start of Award

Awards are expected to commence by March 2023.

The EiR awards are for two years in the first instance. At the end of that period, there may be the opportunity to apply for a one-year extension. The scheme will fund the EiR to spend 20% of their time working in residence at their place of tenure over the period, ie on average one day a week excluding annual leave.

The scheme is flexible about how this time should be spent, but the application should give an outline in the project plan describing how it will be divided up over the period of the award.

Industry Fellows' College

EiRs will be automatically enrolled into the Society's Industry Fellows' College. The College comprises current and former EiRs, and current and former holders of the Royal Society Industry Fellowship, a scheme that has been running for over 40 years and provides opportunities for industry scientists to work in academia and academic scientists to work in industry.

The College programme consists of a series of networking and training events that bring together the members with other stakeholders working across the boundary between industry and academia. As part of the College, you will receive invitations to Industry Fellow Networking Events and other activities under the Society's Science, Industry and Translation programme.

Monitoring and evaluation

EiRs will be required to submit a short report to the Royal Society at the end of their award outlining their activities and expected impacts to follow. Royal Society staff will also keep in regular communication with the EiR, including arranging visits to their hosts to meet them and their colleagues.

Labs to Riches

Entrepreneurs in Residence awards will be announced at the Royal Society annual 'Labs to Riches' event planned for Spring 2023 (date to be confirmed). The event celebrates science and industry with invited guests including academics, entrepreneurs, and prominent industry figures. All successful applicants will be invited to attend.

Eligibility

Applicant Eligibility

The scheme is open to applicants of any nationality, who are eligible to work in the UK for the duration of the award. Applicants should have a background in science and engineering. They must be able to demonstrate significant experience of working in science in an industrial research context, and one or more of the following:

- a) experience of managing university-business collaborations and the translation and commercialisation of research;
- b) experience of entrepreneurship, such as company formation and growth, investment etc;
- c) experience or interest in training, coaching or mentoring.

Applicants can be either employed full-time, part-time, self-employed or retired. Applicants may make only one application per round.

Please note that, whilst applications will be accepted from current employees of the University, there must be a strong and compelling reason why the proposed activities are not currently possible.

The Royal Society recognises that diversity is essential for delivering excellence in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM). The Society wants to encourage applications from the widest range of backgrounds, perspectives and experiences to maximise innovation and creativity in science for the benefit of humanity. We regularly review and revise processes to help ensure that all talented applicants have an equitable chance to succeed as per the assessment criteria. This includes ensuring all panel members are briefed on unconscious bias in decision making as part of our assessment process.

Support to applicants with disabilities: The Royal Society welcomes applications from scientists with disabilities and provides adjustments to ensure that they can participate fully in the selection process. If you need an adjustment when accessing the application form, attending interviews if applicable, or for any other part of the application process, please contact the Industry team on industry@royalsociety.org or call +44 7702 840690. Adjustments can include but not limited to:

- Extension of the deadline;
- Additional support to complete the application form;
- Technical support during interviews for candidates with hearing or visual impairments;
- Support during interviews for neurodiverse candidates and those with mental health conditions.

The Grants team will be pleased to answer questions about eligibility and/or points covered in this section.

Host Organisation Eligibility

The scheme supports applications in collaboration with a UK University or not-for-profit research organisation. We would typically expect the host organisation where the EiR will be placed to be a single University School or Department, however we welcome other arrangements (eg working in a cross-disciplinary research institute within a University, across a Faculty or even University-wide) as long as the proposal clearly describes how the aims of the scheme will be met.

Please note, the EiR scheme is not aimed at establishing a new or furthering an existing collaboration solely between an applicant's employer and the University

Eligible Costs

The funding available is expected to cover the following (as required for the EiR to fulfil the proposed project plan):

- salary equivalent to 0.2 FTE of the award holder's current salary to spend 20% of their working time at the host. The EiR's basic salary only will be paid during the secondment; the EiR's employer will continue to pay national insurance and pension contributions.
- travel and project costs for award holder to travel to and from their host, and accommodation if required. Project costs to help deliver the aims of the project plan can also be included, such as organising events or training workshops and conference attendance.

These expenses should be justified in the financial details section of the application form in Flexi-Grant®.

Assessment Criteria and Review Process

Assessment Criteria

Applicants are asked to submit a project plan that should explain what the EiR will do during their residency and the anticipated impacts. The following criteria will be used in assessing applications:

- a) the quality and expected impact of the activities outlined in the project plan, in line with the aims of the scheme listed above;
- b) the scientific and business track record of the applicant and how this will enable them to successfully deliver the activities outlined in the project plan.
- c) the commitment from the host organisation, demonstrating its need for the EiR and its support in enabling them to deliver the project plan.

Review Process

All applications to the Royal Society are first reviewed and assessed by two members of a selection panel formed of industry and translation experts and former award holders. Scores are then verified by a separate panel of four independent experts.

The subject tags you select on your application play a vital role in matching your application with appropriate reviewers, so it is extremely important to select only the most relevant subject tags on your application.

Please be assured that the Royal Society specifically requests anyone involved in reviewing applications to consider them in confidence. More information on the Review Process can be found in Appendix 1.

All applicants will be notified of outcomes via email.

References and Participants

To complete and submit the application form, the lead applicant is required to provide supporting statements or references from four individuals. The following individuals must be included:

1. Host Head of Department
  - a. The application must be accompanied by a statement of support from the Head of Department (or equivalent) at the host organisation, which demonstrates a clear need from the host for the EiR and a commitment to enabling the project plan. This statement is a key factor in the review process.

2. Head of Department at employing organisation
  - a. Applicants will be committing 20% of their time to activities at the host organisation. As such, confirmation from their employer is required. In cases, where the applicant is self-employed or sufficiently senior within the organisation so approval is not required ie CEO, then this section can be left blank.

3. Two nominated referees.

The primary consideration for a referee is that they are able to comment independently and authoritatively on your application (i.e. someone in your field, who is as independent as possible from the applicant/co-applicant). You do not need to know them personally, but you should make sure they are able to provide a reference before adding them to your application.

At least one nominated referee must be based in the UK.

Nominated referees must not be:

- from the same institution as the Applicant or Co-applicant will not be accepted
- the Applicant's former/current supervisor (including PhD supervisor)
- a member on the assessment panel for this scheme; or
- a member of the Royal Society's Council.

References must be submitted in English. If a reference is not submitted in English, it will not be accepted and may render the application ineligible. No two references can be from the same person. If two references from the same person are submitted, it may make the application ineligible.

These individuals can be invited through the 'participants' tab displayed on the application form summary page, where you will find each of the required participants as described above.

Please select 'invite' and enter the e-mail address of the person you wish to invite to provide the relevant statements and send the invitation.

The recipient will need to accept your invitation before they can participate in the application.

You can monitor the progress of your participants' activity through this section of the application form, and issue reminders as required. Once the recipient has accepted your invitation, their status will be displayed as 'active'. Upon completion of their section of the application form, their status will be displayed as 'complete'.

You will not be able to submit your application form until the status of all participants' shows 'complete'.

Please note that once an applicant submits an application on Flexi-Grant®, it is then directed to the designated Approver for the employing organisation at which the applicant has applied to host an award (see Application Approvals in the 'Application Guidance Notes' Section). It is recommended that referring and supporting participants fulfil their requirements at least 5 working days before the submission deadline (Friday, 16 September 2022) to ensure there is sufficient time for organisational approval. The Host Organisation approver must approve the completed application by the submission deadline

It is the applicant's responsibility to liaise with the nominated referees, the Host Organisation's Approver and the Heads of Department to ensure that the required tasks are completed by the deadline. Please contact the Grants team before the deadline if there is any issue. Alternatively, the Host Organisation's Approver, the Heads of Department, and the nominated referees can contact us directly. The Royal Society will not be held responsible for emails that are not received due to address errors or spam filters and no provision is made for non-receipt of emails sent by the Royal Society.

Once participants have completed all their sections of the application form, please remind them to select 'Save & Submit' on the application form page or select 'Submit your contribution' on the summary page.

Re-opening the Application form to Participants

On the occasion that an invited participant accidentally submits their section of the application form prematurely, the Lead Applicant has the ability to re-open the application form for the participant. To do this, the Lead Applicant should return to the Participant tab on the application form summary page. You will find a 're-open' button alongside the name of any participant who has completed their section of the form. Once you click this button, the form is reactivated and available for participants to amend.

Research Support Role

The Research Support role displayed under the participants tab is an optional role, which allows you to invite an individual from the relevant Host Organisation research support team to review and amend the application prior to submission. The primary purpose is to ensure that the requested finances have been recorded correctly for this specific grant programme. As this is an optional role, it will not affect your ability to submit your application for approval.

Additional system guidance can be found in the 'Systems Guidance Notes' Section.

The applicant must invite the Head of Department and current line manager to participate in completion of the application form before it can be submitted for approval.

Before inviting the Heads of Department to participate in completion of your application form, the applicant is instructed to ensure that the Heads of Department are willing and available to provide a confirmation of support prior to the round closing date. Incomplete confirmations will mean that an application cannot be submitted and will be deemed to be ineligible.

Please check which email address the Heads of Department and line manager would like you to use as they may already be registered with a user account on Flexi-Grant®. It is important that you enter the correct email addresses when inviting these individuals to support your application, as an email will be sent automatically from Flexi-Grant® to them with instructions for viewing your application and providing their support. Any mistakes in the email addresses supplied will delay the progress of your application.

It is the responsibility of the applicant to:

- inform the individuals responsible of the deadline;
- liaise with them to ensure that they have received their invitation with instructions to participate in completion of your application, as no provision is made for non-receipt of these automatic emails;
- keep track of the progress of their completion status on your application summary page. You can issue a reminder emails through the participant's tab on your application summary page.

If the instruction email from the Royal Society has not been received, please:

- a) double check the accuracy of the email address supplied on the application form;
- b) advise the intended recipient to check their spam filters/junk folders;
- c) contact the Royal Society with an alternative email address for the recipient.

The Royal Society will not be held responsible for automated emails that are not received due to address errors or spam filters.

Once you have submitted your application for approval by your current employer and your host organisation, automatic emails will be sent to the approving department of both organisations asking them to log on to the system. You will not be able to submit your application until it has been sent to both the academic and industrial organisations for approval. The organisation approvers will either: approve and submit your application, contact you to request modifications, or decline your application and contact you.

Please be aware that it is your responsibility to ensure that you complete your application in time for your current employer and the host organisation to process it (including requesting changes) and provide their approval by the closing date. It is recommended that you allow at least five working days for this process.

If your current employer or host organisation approver requests modifications through the Flexi-Grant email facility, they can unlock your application, allowing you to edit it. If they are unsure how to do this, they should contact the Royal Society. Once you have completed the requested changes, please use the application summary to re-submit your application for approval by your host organisation. Please also contact your Head of Department and alert them to the changes.

Once your current employer and host organisation have approved your application and submitted it to the Royal Society, it will not be possible to make any changes.

Please provide a statement in support of the application as a PDF on headed paper, that includes your name, title, and contact details.
