Royal Society Wolfson Research Merit Awards

1. Overview

Aim: The primary aim of this scheme is to provide universities with additional support to enable them to attract to the UK, or retain, respected scientists of outstanding achievement and potential. Awards are made to the university and therefore researchers must remain at the university named on the application.

Subjects covered: The awards are funded jointly by the Wolfson Foundation and the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy (BEIS) and support researchers in all sciences, i.e., the disciplines in which the Society will elect researchers to the Fellowship of the Royal Society (all areas of the life and physical sciences, including engineering).

Eligibility: Nominated researchers may be of any nationality and must either currently hold a permanent post (wholly funded by the nominating university) or have received a firm offer to take effect from the start of the award. Eligibility of the application must in the first instance be discussed between the Vice Chancellor at the university or their elected representative (e.g., appropriate Head of Department).

Nomination and application process: The Vice Chancellor or Head of Department will need to contact the Royal Society Grants Office by email (seniorfellowships@royalsociety.org), after which a weblink to a nomination form on the Royal Society’s Grants and Awards management system (Flexi-Grant®) will be provided (see stage one below). The nomination form will request information such as the details of the case for recruitment or retention of the nominated researcher. After the completed nomination form has been considered by the Royal Society, the nominated researcher (applicant) will be sent a weblink inviting them to complete and submit a full application in that current round on Flexi-Grant®.

‘Fast Track’ applications: In cases where a rapid decision is urgently required outside of a current round there is scope to assess applications on a ‘Fast Track’ process. Please contact the Senior Fellowships team (seniorfellowships@royalsociety.org) if you wish to discuss this option.

Length of tenure: The award is for five years.

Place of tenure: Awards must be held at a UK university and therefore applications will only be accepted from UK universities.

Value: Provides funding for salary enhancement usually in the range of £10K to £30K per annum. It will be the responsibility of the host university to pay the basic salary including employer’s contribution for pension and National Insurance for both the basic salary and the merit award salary enhancement.

Please note: Research expenses will only be considered for overseas researchers being recruited to the UK to support integration into the UK research and funding environment. Researchers who are already based in the UK cannot request research expenses. Claims for administrative or research staff salaries as part of research expenses will not be considered.

It is expected that the university will continue with the salary enhancement and research expenses payments beyond the end of the award.

Closing date: 23 January 2018 (15:00 UK Time). Eligible applications received by this date will be considered at the Selection Panel meeting by the end of April 2018. The outcome is likely to be announced by the end of May 2018.
Please bear in mind that in order for the application to be considered by the Royal Society, the application needs to be submitted (including completion of Head of Departments’ and two nominated referees’ support statements and financial details) and approved by the host organisation by the deadline.

Assessment criteria
In addition to the case for recruitment/retention, criteria for the award will include:

- the research track record and promise of the researcher
- the contribution that the researcher can make to the furtherance of UK research in the researcher’s field
- the record and promise of the university in the researcher’s field
- the quality of laboratory and other facilities which the university intends to make available to the researcher to undertake research
- the researcher’s expected contribution to promoting and disseminating research at the university and more widely, including the balance between research, teaching and any other duties and the university’s commitment to his or her longer-term and broader career development.
